DOTY'S WASHING MACHINE,

LATELY MUCH IMPROVED—AND THE

NEW

Universal Clothes Wringer.

Improved with Rowell's Patent Double

Cog-wheels, and the Patent Stop, are now unquestionably far superior to any apparatus for washing clothes ever invented, and will save their cost twice a year, by saving labor and clothes.

Those who have used them give testimony

as follows:

"We do our machine much; could not be persuaded to do without it, and with the aid of Doty, we feel that we are masters of the situation."—Rev. L. Scott, Bishop M. E.

Church.

"It is worth a dollar a week in any family."—N. Y. Tribune.

"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving on Mondays for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer.

"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and contentment."—Rev. Dr.

Bellows.

"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you 'our Machine' after a year's use, is thought more of to-day than ever, and would not be parted with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.

"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry, and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it.

It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work, with less labor, and does not wear

the clothes near so much as the old fashioned wash-board. By using it, one hundred is dispensed with."—Wm. M. F. Bond,

Superintendent of Infant Department of St.

Catharine's Nursery, N. Y. City.

PRICES.—A Fair Offer.

Send the retail price, Washer $14. Extra

Wringer $3, and we will forward either or both machines, free of freight, to places where no one is selling; and so sure are we

they will be liked, that we agree to refund the money if any one wishes to return the machines free of freight, after a month's trial, according to directions.

No husband, father or brother should permit the drudgery of washing with the hands, fifty-two days in the year, when it can be done better, more expeditiously, with less labor, and no injury to the garments,

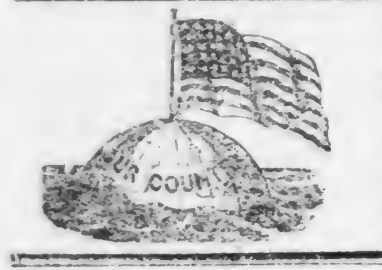

by a Doty Clothes Washer, and a Universal

Wringer.

Our Legislature.

The Legislature of Kentucky, met last Monday, and organized. The Hon. P. H. Leslie, of Barren county, was elected Speaker of the Senate, and Dr. J. R. Hawkins, was re-elected Clerk, and J. A. Manday, assistant. J. A. Grant was elected Sergeant-at-arms, and Joe E. Reed, Door Keeper.

J. T. Bunch, was elected Speaker of the House, and we find it fully under headway. The Governor's Message has been read and published, and we shall notice it next week.

Congress.

Met last Monday, at Washington City, and organized. The President's Message has been sent in and published. It is a curious message, in some respects, but nothing extraordinary. Mr. Grant adheres to radicalism and the bondholders. We shall speak of it next week.

A Whisky Riot.

New York, Dec. 3. The attack on the United States troops by the people of the Fifth Ward, Brooklyn (Irishtown), was more desperate than at first reported. The troops were waiting for the return of the working party, headed by United States Marshal Pleasanton, who had gone to seize the illicit stills, when a crowd of about fifteen hundred came down Little street and threw all sorts of missiles at the soldiers. While thus attacked in front, an immense mass of bricks was hurled from the house-tops scattering the soldiers. The forbearance of the troops was extraordinary under the circumstances, no order to fire having been given. Finally, the working party, after having broken up thirty illicit stills, returned and marched in the squad of bayonets formed by the troops. All the stills seized were taken to the Navy Yard. It is said that two gunboats lying off the yard were ready to shell Irish-town, had the resistance to the troops and revenue officers become too formidable.

The above extract is a telegram to one of our Western papers, and is sent as an item of news—and it is news of a very startling nature. Fifteen hundred men in one body is an unusually large number of people, and when so many are excited to madness and rushing forward pell mell to satisfy their vengeance upon the object of their hate, how terrible their certainty must appear. In the above case, our Irish fellow citizens were very much in the wrong. They had violated the laws of the country in making whisky without a license—and then they violated the laws in resisting the lawful authorities who were sent to destroy or carry away the stills.

Two, nor three wrongs have never been sufficient to make one correct proposition. To obey the laws of the country we live in, is a command from our Creator; and we should all make it a point to comply with that command unless the laws are made by Tyrants, and made for the purposes of persecution and oppression. In that case "resistance to Tyrants and their laws is obedience to God"—and we favor such resistance.

But in this great country it is believed and understood that the people make all the laws, and that they should endorse and uphold them if very proper. The laws, with reference to the manufacture of Liquors, seem quite oppressive and doubtless are, to those who are engaged in the business—but it must not be forgotten that Liquor is considered a luxury, and in many respects a troublesome one. Therefore, the Government has thought proper to lay a heavy tax upon those who bring it into existence. The payment of that Tax has been evaded, in many instances, and large fortunes have been made by the speculators. We said, swindling the Government out of its dues. To catch those thieves in high places, and sometimes in low ones, as will be seen by the above Telegram, very stringent laws are enforced by the bayonet, which has cost not a little trouble.

Just at this time, we find ourselves unable to say when it was that spirituous or malt liquors appeared on this earth, or the name of its originator.

One thing is certain, however, had he lived at this age, and had his discovery been patented, he would have made almost as much money as Tice expects to make with his humbug meter. To imbibe too freely of spirituous or malt liquor, has a deleterious effect upon the mind, as well as a ruinous one upon the body. The results of a continued familiarity with the "Elixir of Life," as it has been termed by the devil, in long-forgotten "Golden Legend," is well known in this community, and it is not necessary for us to say anything about it.

While writing of the origin of spirituous liquors, our readers will excuse us, for publishing all that I uttered said about it, while he was falsely attempting to play the physician in the "Golden Legend."

To the question as to what School of Medicine he belongs, he replies:

"Both of the Old and the New! The School of Hermes Trismegistus, who uttered his oracles sublime before the Olympians, in the dew of the early dusk and dawn of Time. The reign of careless old Elephastus! As northward, from its Nubian springs, The Nile, forever new and old. Among the living and the dead, Its mighty mystic streams has rolled: So, starting from its fountain-head Under the lotus-leaves of Isis, From the dead denigals of old, Through long unbroken lines of kings Its course the sacred art has held. Unchecked, unchanged by man's devices, This art the Arabian Geber taught, And in alchemy, finely wrought, Distilling herbs and flowers discovered The secret that so long had hovered Upon the misty verge of Truth, The Elixir of Perpetual Youth. Coptic Alcohol, in the Arab speech, Like him, this wondrous lore I teach."

In the above extract it will be seen that the evil one has declared alcohol to be the great life giver; but we know, and our readers too, that he does not in this case, and in fact, has never been known to tell the truth—and in this "riot," as the multitude seemed to have been possessed of but little reason, we would not fall short of the mark to assert that the Devil's Elixir of Life had taken their heads as well as their bodies. Such is the history of people, who give themselves up entirely to the Evil one and his "Elixir of Life."

An Irishman, is generally a good citizen. He is industrious, warm-hearted, patriotic, and full of sympathy for the woes of others. Not more impulsive in his nature than other people, and not more than he should be, in our opinion. He is jealous of his rights, and will maintain them against any and every body—and will make war upon his enemy, with defeat staring him in the face. We sympathize with him, and we can't help it. He has been driven from his home, and native land by the iron heel of oppression—and so often was he compelled to make war upon the tax gatherers, in old Ireland, to save even enough of food to keep his little ones from starvation, that it comes quite handy for him occasionally to break out in this country.

The attention of our readers is directed particularly to the last paragraph of this Telegram, wherein it is stated that under certain contingencies two Gun boats would shell Irish-town.

This is entirely a Yankeeized proposition, and the same sort of talk was had during our recent "little unpleasantness," and on many occasions carried out. Yes, shell the town—kill the women and destroy the children, is yet the hue and cry of the "Torch and Turpentine," whang-doodle republican organization.

Let us pray! But—don't give the Irish any notice, that their women and children may be saved, but let fly the missiles of death, and annihilate the crew.

MR. EDITOR:—In your issue of week before last, a call was made upon me to become a candidate for the office of County Judge, for this county. In response to this, I will say, that for several months past many applications have been made to me, coming from every part of the county, soliciting me to offer for this position. I have determined to defer to their wishes. I have no special pledges to make to the people of this county touching this matter, if after their long intercourse with me, both in my professional and individual capacity, running through so many years, they are not satisfied, both as to my integrity and my ability to discharge the duties of this office, anything I could say now would be perfectly idle. I can only promise, that if they elect me, I will use every energy and capacity of which I am possessed to give public satisfaction as far as I can consist with duty. That I shall regard it as a compliment to my life and character, with which this people are so familiar, and be thankful to them for it.

FRIEND MOREY:—As a mere "looker on in Venice," I had the pleasure of attending a "Hop" Friday evening, December 3, given by the Proprietor of the Georgetown Hotel, for the benefit of the fraternity of "Odd Fellows," who lost by the late fire, their hall, regalia, and all valuable possessions.

Peculiarly, the affair was a perfect success; nothing transpired to mar, or cast a single shadow over the pleasure of the evening, and if glowing cheeks, laughing eyes and bright faces, are a true index to the heart, then beyond a doubt, many a heart beat high in pleasure on this occasion, and many a "gay youth and dashing beauty" will retain a pleasing recollection of the happy evening.

"Timonius' Band" discoursed their sweetest and liveliest strains for the occasion, nor did their efforts cease, till the "w.e.s.m.a. boys" of morning drew nigh, warning the joyous throng, that the cares of another day would soon be upon them.

As a stranger, comparatively, I received many kind attentions, and feel satisfied that the reputation, sustained by our little city for kindness and hospitality, is just.

My imagination would fail me, and my pen could not fulfill its mission, were I to attempt, to give an elaborate description of the many elegant ladies, who graced the occasion by their presence, or their toilets, and must content myself with the mention of a few, without any intention of slighting those I omit.

Every costume was in decided good taste, devoid of that array of "gauze and tinsel" so characteristic of the present day, and I especially compliment the ladies, one and all, on their good taste.

Among the many who graced the occasion I cannot omit to mention Miss Rena K—t, of Boone county, who was the cynosure of all present, neatly and becomingly dressed in white, with puffed over-skirt of pink, hair, streaming over "neck of alabaster," petite and interesting with:

"Grace in every movement," and acknowledged, as one of the "belles" of the evening, and many a heart will say,

"This art the Mecca of my many hopes." Miss Fanny C—l, dress of Wine Colored Silk, en tralle—with simple yet neat trimming, elegant and graceful in every action, and ardently devoted to Ferpichore.

Miss Kate E—n, looked charming in white tulle, and greatly admired.

Miss Mary G—s, white dress, en tralle, and a general favorite.

Miss Mattie F—y, made her debut, neatly attired in white alpacas hair tasteful arranged—a study for a Raphael—and by her pleasing and graceful manners won a host of admirers.

Miss S—w, of Boone county, wore low neck dress of white alpaca, cut short with simple trimming, displaying a faultless—ensemble—a graceful and easy dancer, and much admired.

Miss Sue C—e, in dress of white Flusion—puffed skirt—simple ornaments, hair arranged in latest style, and by pleasing manner won many admirers.

Miss Anna L—n, appeared in white, both elegant and graceful.

Mrs. B—d, in neat evening costume, was only out-shone, by that little embodiment of grace, la petite Sallie, her daughter, who with her little companion Miss K—y, won the admiration of the assembly, by the perfect manner in which they performed the most difficult dances.

Mrs. Lucy H—l, modestly attired in dress of plain poplin received no little admiration.

Mrs. Lucy N—r, blue dress with over skirt, hair, a la frizzed. Mrs. Nannie B—d, in plain costume, and Mrs. F—n, in Highland Plaid, were all pleasing and danced to perfection. There were many present whose names I failed to learn, all accomplished dancers, and contributed largely to the enjoyments of the evening, of whom I may be able to speak on some future occasion. Altogether, it was an enjoyable affair and to the devotees of dancing I commend these pleasant "Hops."

I cannot close this hasty sketch, without recommending in the highest manner "mine host" of the Georgetown Hotel, Mr. C. W. Worstell, under whose auspices this pleasant little affair was arranged. He is always to be found on hand, polite and obliging, assisted by his excellent Lady, and an efficient corps of attentive servants.

[For the News.]

"Baptism not Immersion."

Such is the heading of an article in the Cynthiana News of last week. As the Presbyterians are the only respectable body of Protestants who teach that immersion is not baptism, and consequently refuse to immerse, the author of these articles must be a Presbyterian. I am truly glad that these communications have been published, that the people may know the grounds upon which the Presbyterian church rejects immersion.

Mr. Senex has furnished about the best arguments that can be produced on his side of the question.

The two arguments used by Mr. Senex, may be stated as follows:

1st. John said he baptized with water, therefore, the water was applied to the subject, and not the subject to the water.

2nd. When the Apostles were baptized with the Holy Spirit, the Spirit was poured upon them, therefore, in water baptism, the water must be poured upon the subject.

The first of these arguments can be refuted by any washer-woman in the community. Nothing is more common than to hear persons speak of washing clothes with water, with hard water or soft water. They never mean by such expressions that the washing consisted in pouring or sprinkling the water on the cloths. They simply mean to designate the element used in washing, without reference to how it is used. So the expressions "baptize with water," or "with the Spirit," simply designate the element used in baptizing, without reference to how it was used.

No just inference therefore, can be drawn from these expressions as to how the water was used in baptizing.

The second argument can be answered as easily as the first. Mr. Senex says, "a pouring out or shedd forth of the Spirit, Peter being witness, constituted the baptism of the Spirit." If this statement is true, it would be a sufficient refutation to say, that it was the Spirit that was baptized and not the Apostles because the Spirit was poured out or shed forth.

But would Senex or any house-keeper in the land admit the validity of this argument when applied to the washing of clothes or other articles. Suppose Mr. Senex, your servant should take your clothes to wash them, and having poured a little water upon them should contend that they were washed, because the washing consisted in the pouring of the water, would you admit the validity of the reasoning? You know you would not. But the servant would prove as conclusively that the washing of your clothes, consisted in pouring the water on them, as you prove by your argument that the baptism of the Spirit consisted in the pouring out of the Spirit. Why then do you and the Pedobaptists generally, ask intelligent people to receive and practice in religion, what you would not tolerate in an ignorant servant in the ordinary affairs of life? The baptism of the Spirit did not consist in the "pouring out," or "shedding forth" of the Spirit, but in the effects of the reception of the Spirit upon the minds of the Apostles. We cannot imagine one thing more completely under the influence of another than the minds of the Apostles were under the influence of the Spirit when they were able to speak with tongues that they had never learned. So that if persons are to be baptized by pouring, the water should be poured upon them till they are brought as completely under its influence, as the minds of those baptized with the Spirit were under the Spirit's influence. But this could not be done till the persons were immersed in the water. So that to make a baptism by pouring valid, the water should be poured on till the subject is wholly immersed.

THE OROIDE WATCH CO., 110 Fulton Street, New York, October 21, 1869-3mos.

One of the few really successful enterprises of the day is Parnes & Co.'s One Dollar Sale. Their system offers a greater opportunity for the purchase of the thousand and one useful articles, at a price that comes within the reach of all classes, than any other.

It is a well understood fact, that certain classes of goods pay the dealer a very large percentage of profit. This appears almost necessary, especially in Fancy Goods, Jewelry, Silver Plated Ware, &c., of which a dealer does not sell sufficient of any one article to make it an object of trade, and is obliged to purchase in small quantities; and when the goods are sold by three or four different classes of merchants, and each charge a very large profit, the price becomes double the original cost of manufacture before reaching the hands of the people.

It is in such a case, that Parnes & Co., 98 & 100 Summer St., Boston, deal most exclusively. Their sales are so immense they make each article a specialty. Often buying a large quantity of a certain article, they are enabled to manufacture a special price. Their system gives universal satisfaction. Read their advertisement.

The best Brown Sheetting at 16 1/2 cents per yard, at the Stone Front.

Not Dead.
Last week we published a list of the Confederate Dead, who were killed, and who died in and around this place, during the big stealing raid made by the north upon the south, and among the list is the name of one Capt. Kirkpatrick, who commanded a company in Morgan's last fight in Cynthiana, and who was supposed to have been mortally wounded. A lady informs us that he was seriously wounded, but not mortally, and that another soldier in the same company was mortally wounded and died at the Federal Hospital at this place; that by some slight of hand, the Federal Surgeon was made to believe, and has not up to this day, been undeceived, that the soldier who died was none other than the brave Kirkpatrick. The name of the soldier who died, was not known. He was tall, with small feet and hands, and had a heavy diamond ring upon one of his fingers. He was a gentleman in manners and education. Kirkpatrick, who was the supposed private soldier, was considered no better than a dead one had been taken to a private house to die, and being neglected by the Federal surgeons, recovered from his wounds, and is now, we understand, alive and well, somewhere in Virginia. He was a minister of some Christian persuasion, and is at this time calling sinners to repentance and teaching mortals the unsearchable riches of Christ and the road to Heaven. We hope if the above is true, and this should come under Capt. K's, eye, that we shall hear from him.

An Appeal from "Time's Herald" to the City Fathers and people of Cynthiana, Ky.
Good friends, sweet friends, hear me for my cause and judge me with righteous judgment. From my solitary tower by night and by day, I have striven as a faithful servant and monitor to warn you of Times rapid flight, and to show you correctly his fleeting footsteps. For a part of my time I did it well, for those who had the care of me, did their duty by me and by you, and when my sometimes wayward and wind-blown hands departed—all unwillingly from the true time—they regulated them, much to the joy of my heart, and I tickled and struck out the time with a feeling of honest satisfaction and conscious integrity.

Dear friends, it was then my constant pride and glory to hear my praises ascend from grateful hearts, and my patrons boast that—"there wasn't a clock in the State to equal me." Alas, how changed! Riekel & Rauh no longer attend to my wants—and here I stand showing you one time, while the lightning flashes over the wires—and the engine screams in my ears another time, and curses and reproaches break my heart and shame covers my face. till I wish my hands would spread out and hide it from the scornful gaze of those who were once my admirers. Indeed, it is not my fault—I would run with the lightning and go by the railroad time if I could, but I am neglected, I am in the power of those whose souls surely do not keep pace with the progress of the age, who do not know that the Railroad shares the Sun's time honor—right of regulating the hours of man's fleeting days.

Don't swear at me any more; I am really innocent of wilful lying, and if you will only give me back my old friend, or poke them up with a sharp stick who ought to do their duty by me, I will serve you truly, and gratefully strike the passing hour to your satisfaction. Dear News, copy and publish my complaint which in these silent hours I have poured into your kind and attentive ear, and morning after morning as the bright Monarch of the day illumines my face with his golden rays, I will smile upon you in the reflection of his beautiful and grateful glories, and ever remain your tried and long suffering

OLD TOWN CLOCK.
Court House Tower,
Cynthiana, Ky., Dec. 7, 1899.

Bleached Cotton 11 cents per yard, at the Stone Front.

H. Schultz.
This gentleman is now residing in Falmouth, and is the proprietor of a large Bakery and Confectionery establishment. He will be remembered as the extra Baker in this city some two years ago, on the corner of Main and Court sts.; but at that time he was an uneasy bachelor, and could not remain in Cynthiana, while his heart was elsewhere. He deserted our city, when we lost sight of him for a while. The next we hear of him, we find him captured by a handsome and excellent lady and residing in conjugal felicity at Falmouth. He is a firm democrat and worthy of success. His lady will accept our thanks for a large roll of valuable papers.

Preaching at the Court House.
Elder T. J. Stevenson, (Baptist), is expected to preach at the Court House, Saturday evening next, at 6 o'clock, and also Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, A. M., and 6 1/2 o'clock, P. M.

It is strange to see with what carelessness some invalids attend to their health. They will procure a box of PLANTATION BITTERS, which ought to be used in a month or six weeks, and upon inquiry it is found that they have used only two or three bottles. Some days they have used it according to the directions, and others have not touched it. The whole trial has been irregular and of course a less favorable result has come from their use. If he true that "what is worth doing at all is worth doing well," how emphatically it is true in matters relating to health. A few bottles of PLANTATION BITTERS have often wrought wonders, while in other instances disease has only been subdued after weeks of resistance.

Information for Our Friends.
We have been asked by several of our friends who have become interested in the advertisement of the Henderson Kentucky Prize Scheme, whether it is similar to, or likely to terminate as the St. Louis Pashal House affair did, and we take this as the briefest method of answering one and all. Without doubt the Pashal House affair terminated essentially as a swindle; and we have nothing but the most utter contempt for any one who would be guilty of managing any enterprise as that was managed. But such a termination of the Kentucky Scheme is simply impossible, as both the Prizes and the funds arising from the sale of tickets are in the hands of commissioners, who are bound by a most stringent charter to see that all the conditions of the enterprise are fulfilled, before the owner of the property can obtain a dollar of the money. Our friends can with secure patronize the Scheme with every assurance that the whole will be conducted with the most perfect fairness toward every ticket holder.
